

Health, Safety, Environmental and Quality (HSEQ) Management Systems

Pinnacle's HSEQ services are always tailored to the individual requirements of our Clients.

We work with internationally recognised standards such as ISO 14001, EMAS and BS: 8555 for Environmental MS (EMS), ISO 9001 for Quality MS (QMS), BS OHSAS 18001 for Health & Safety MS (HSMS) and can provide the support to businesses in order to achieve these standards.

We help Clients to payback their investment in achieving standards by differentiating the organisation and reducing the cost of risks resulting in a competitive advantage.

We always develop solutions that are aligned with our Client's business requirements, making sure that standard fits around the business rather than the other way around. At the same time, we share our knowledge and expertise on process management and how best to integrate all elements of organisational risk in order to deliver the best overall system.

As part of Pinnacle's comprehensive service, support can be provided for the entire development of a system from initial commitment to certification.

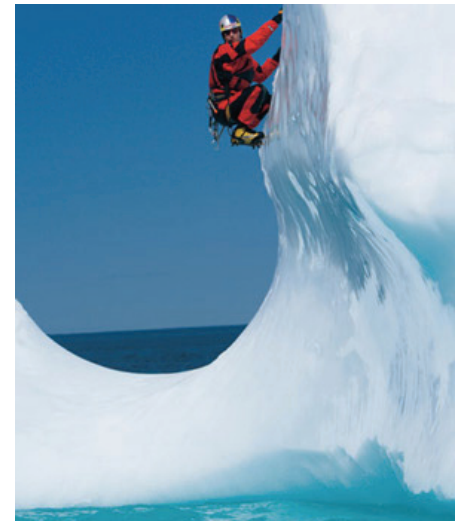

We can also provide assistance with individual components such as gap analysis, regulatory compliance, reviews of critical process, risks or aspects, development of documentation and procedures, training and awareness, auditing and pre-certification preparation. Working arrangements can be part or full-time secondment or provision of ad-hoc advice and on call support.

For Clients that have already implemented a management system, we can assist with the maintenance of this without affecting responsibility for management control.

Clients who have standard certification cost effectively outsource routine review and maintenance of the system (for example, risk assessments, legal register and audit) to ensure its effectiveness and ability to bring about continual improvement.
